STONEMASONS HERE FROM SCOTLAND—Attempting to ease the families of stonemasons, a Canadian construction company, contractors on new buildings at the University of Western Ontario in London, have started importing qualified men from Scotland by trans-Atlantic plane. The first of a hoped-for 25 for the London job, are now at work—George Murray, from Glasgow; Roy Hird, from Aberdeen; and William Coote from Aberdeenshire, all pictured above. They are being paid 11 over the United Kingdom scale.—S.N.S. photo.

THEY WANT TO GET MARRIED—Shown above are Mrs. Adams, Eugene Nichols, 10-year-old crippled white woman, and Allen Leo Gustard Woods, 28, her Negro chauffeur, as they appeared at the hall of records in Los Angeles, Cal., for a marriage license. Action on their application was postponed by the county clerk's office, as it has been done several times previously when the couple made similar applications shortly after the state supreme court declared California has an invalid marriage unconstitutional. Attorney Lloyd F. Dunn, who accompanied the couple, and Mrs. Nichols is "comfortably well off and wishes to be married in order to leave her estate to Woods."—S.N.S. photo.

FIRST CHRISTMAS IN CANADA—Ten-ton in Okaville, Ont., was decorated with evergreen, and a sparkling Christmas tree, was the setting for a party when 100 new Canadians enjoyed their first Christmas in Canada recently. The party was given by the citizens committee of the White Oaks and Angwa Bruce chapters, I.O.O.F. The program included folk-songs by Dutch and Latvian groups led by a Dutch war bride, Mrs. James Roberts. A ship-pier Polish orchestra provided music and played for the dancing following the program. Above: Hermine Viala is seen with candy, which she received at the party.

CHRISTENED PRINCE CHARLES—In the stately gold music room at Buckingham palace, Prince Charles Philip Arthur George of Edinburgh, son of Princess Elizabeth and Duke of Edinburgh was christened by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Most Rev. Geoffrey Fisher. The christening robe of Hinton lace made for Queen Victoria was once worn by the baby prince's mother. Shown at Princess Elizabeth's christening many years ago are: The Duke of Connaught, King George V, the Duke of York, the Earl of Strathmore. Queen Mary is on left and on the right are the Countess of Strathmore and Princess Mary.—Reuterphoto from R.N.A.

D.P. BRIDE TOLD MOTHER IN SIBERIA—Two D.P.'s were married in Kitchener, Ont., recently, when Miss Riehnja Linkevitch became the bride of Jonas Pakonia. They are pictured above. A letter informed the bride just before the marriage that her 15-year-old mother had been sent to Siberia by the Russians.—S.N.S. photo.

MUSLIM WOMEN ARE READY TO DEFEND STATE—These marching women are members of the National Volunteer Corps of Forcepore, a Moslem town in East Punjab close to the Hindu border. They are being trained in military virtues to prepare them for possible trouble, within or outside the state.—S.N.S. photo.

The skiers are in six groups for study purposes.—S.N.S. photo.

A COTTAGE FOR BONNIE PRINCE CHARLES—This 10-ft. high Tudor cottage, constructed by women who, during the war made toys in their spare time for nurseries, has been accepted by Princess Elizabeth as a gift for her baby prince, who has been christened Prince Charles Philip George Arthur of Edinburgh. The prince believed hesitantly through-out the christening; he gurgled happily and only cried once. The King, suffering from a circulatory ailment in the hip, indulged in standing during the ceremony, despite suggestions from doctors that he have a chair. Above little visitors peer through the windows of the Tudor cottage, where a prince, who may one day sit on the throne, will probably spend many happy hours at play.—S.N.S. photo.

EAST ZONE COAL FOR RED SECTOR OF BERLIN—From mines in Germany, in the Russian sector of Germany, 600 tons of coal brigades are shown as they arrived in Berlin recently on the first train to use the city's rail lines since the Red blockade of the city was imposed last July. The Russian-dominated government made quite a body once the arrival, even gathering the train with wreaths and slogans reading "we are helping democratic Berlin," a quotation open to interpretation since the coal will go only to the Red zone of the city, and is all probability to the sector's industrial plants. In the above picture, miners, one of three women, begin to unload the coal.—S.N.S. photo.

POET ELODY RECEIVES NOBEL AWARD AT STOCKHOLM—To the applause of Sweden's royal family, T. S. benefit becomes operative; the effect being that very few miners are in a position to benefit.

Today, in view of what is obviously taking place in rival industries, it would appear that a consideration of existing conditions would do more to meet the approaching threat, rather than action that can only lead to a weakening of the position.

SIGNPOST FOR THE NEW YEAR

As a new chapter in world history opens before us, we are the historians. We the ordinary people can do extraordinary things.

President Truman once said: "The time is ripe for an appeal not to self-interest, but to the hunger for great living that lies deep in every man. What people really want is not a promise of something for nothing, but a chance to give everything for something great."

This potential power is only waiting for an ideology to harness it.

Two thousand years ago a simple baby brought to birth an ideology. And through it, ordinary people down the centuries have saved whole nations and shaped the course of our civilization. Paul, the persecutor set Christianity on the march as a world force; Joan of Arc, a peasant girl, obeyed God without thought of self; Lincoln, the rail splitter, united a nation.

You and I can do the same. The only drawback to this greatest destiny is ourselves. Why shouldn't you, the business man, the doctor, become a Paul of the 20th century, turning twenty-four hours a day to give the world a Christian ideal?

Millions of school girls and housewives can be modern Joans of Arc if they are willing to be guided by God and man, what the coat. Every farmer and laboring man can be a Lincoln in the life of his community and nation—used by God to unite people.

Here is our heritage of the past, and guidepost to the future.

Local and District

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Phillips, of Michichi, were business visitors in Delia last Thursday.

Miss Muriel Gibson, nurse-in-training at the University Hospital, arrived home on vacation last Thursday.

THE THREAT TO COAL
In the light of evidence submitted before the Natural Gas Commission, sitting in Calgary, the report released by the official of District 18 of the Mines Union, with regard to increased wages and other benefits, seem rather out of line, considering the advances gained annually in the immediate past.

Julian Garrett, speaking on behalf of persons interested in the construction of a pipe line for natural gas to be distributed in Winnipeg, declared that the price for gas to householders at that point would be no more than Drumheller lump coal, and would have the added advantage of convenience.

There can be no question but that the ever recurring demands of union officials for further wage advances in the coal fields, has had the result of forcing the public into a quest for alternative and more convenient methods in the use of fuel. The rapid development of oil and gas fields in the province, appears to make it only the more certain that the coal mining industry is facing a serious threat to its prosperous survival. Last week the C.P.R. announced the conversion of 100 locomotives from coal to oil, while only the shortage of steel hinders the extension of the gas pipe line from Red Deer south to Didsbury and adjacent towns.

From what can be gathered, even if a strike is successful, the working miner receives no benefits, whatever other interested parties may get out of it. It has been claimed that it takes the average miner twelve months to recover wages lost in any previous strike. As to the winning of a working miner's votes no doubt, whatever other interested parties may get out of it. Beef Shortage Ahead

R. J. Downing, president of Burns and Company, Limited, says that, judging from the experience of past years, it is anticipated there will be a drastic shortage of beef at grades during the months of April, May, and June, 1942.

Mr. Downing says that in recent months large numbers of unskilled cattle have been thrown on the Canadian market, probably due to the high prices prevailing. The number of cattle placed on grain for winter feeding has decreased. It would be ridiculous, said Mr. Downing, if in the future Canadian consumers are forced to turn to the United States for a portion of high quality meats.

As will be seen by advt. in another column, the Queen's Hotel dining room is now open under new management. Meals at regular hours, and in addition, lunches will be served up until 8 p.m.

Sow Good Seed and Reap More Dollars

Many thousands of farmers have found that when they sow good seed they harvest better crops, and so reap more dollars. The best seed obtainable in the world today is Canadian REGISTERED SEED, true-to-variety, with a pedigreed ancestry, of high germination, free from weeds and other impurities, well cleaned, graded, guaranteed and sealed in the sack by the Canadian Seed Growers' Association and the Dominion Plant Products Division. Registered Seed is at a lower price now than it has been for some years past. This season offers a good opportunity, then, for farmers to use more Registered Seed so as to improve the quality and yield of their crops. By using some Registered Seed any farmer will certainly reap more dollars.
